BROOK [BRUK]

LINEAR WRAP CONNECTS
GLASS TO FRAME

Snowflakes are all six-sided, but that is where the commonality ends. The hexagonal diffusers used on Brook are formed with a clear water-glass pattern that is equally interesting and varied. Held by a linear wrap and connected to the frame, they deliver an elegant transitional glow of light.

Stylized smoke contrails have inspired music, art and movies. Now these streaming liquid particles suspended in the atmosphere have resulted in wide diffuser panels cupped by forward-facing plates that hide the LED light source to deliver linear rectangles of gauzy illumination.

Lahar

[LUH-HAAR]

Unused metal shipping drums have become the sub-straight for much of the most recognizable Caribbean art. Flattened, peened, cut and painted, the process of turning yeoman-like materials into collectables is immediately recognizable in Lahar's drape of textured and pierced metal. Glints and glimmer of light are noticeable across a broad surface that will serve as a remarkable centerpiece to any eclectic space.
